Frequently asked questions regarding a learner permit

Q. Can a 15 year old get a learner permit?
A. Yes, HB363 allows a learner permit to be issued to an applicant who is 15 years of age or older. (Effective August 1, 2006)

Q. How can I get a learner permit?
A. To get your learner permit you must:
1. Pass the state approved knowledge test at the driver license division.
2. Pass the physical and mental fitness requirements for a driver’s license (listed on the learner permit application which can be picked up at a driver’s license office).
3. Provide a state certified birth certificate and a second identifying document as well as your social security card.
4. Provide proof of Utah residency. (Two documents with present address)
5. Pay the required fee.

Q. Must a parent or guardian accompany a minor to apply for a learner permit?
A. Yes, the minor’s parent or legal guardian must sign the “Assumption of Joint Liability” clause on the application.
Please Note: Application for a learner permit must be made at a driver’s license office.

Q. Is there a fee for a learner permit?
A. Yes, there is a fee. This is a separate fee from the driver license fee.

Q. How long is the learner permit valid?
A. The learner permit is valid for one year from the date issued.

Q. What restrictions, if any, apply to driving with a learner permit?
A. The following restrictions apply:
1. An applicant under the age of 18 may drive only with an approved driving instructor, a parent/legal guardian, or a responsible adult who is at least 21 years of age, has a valid driver’s license and is willing to assume joint liability of the minor (any of whom must be seated next to the driver).
2. An applicant age 18 years of age or older may drive with a licensed driver who is at least 21 years of age and has a valid driver’s license and is seated next to the driver.

Q. Besides the licensed driver, can there be other passengers in the vehicle?
A. Yes.

Q. Does a 15 year old have to be enrolled in a driver's education course to get their learner permit?
A. No.

Q. How long after getting their learner permit can a minor apply for a driver's license?
A. An applicant under the age of 18 years of age must have:
1. A valid learner permit for at least 6 months prior to application.
2. Successfully completed an approved driver’s education course.
3. Be at least 16 years of age.
4. Completed 40 hours of driving under the supervision of a parent or guardian who is a licensed driver.
This agreement is entered into between the Ogden-Weber Applied Technology College (hereafter referred to as the College) and the named student below.

It is the student’s responsibility to follow all College policies and procedures http://www.owatc.edu/current-students/policies-student-handbook/ as well as the Driver Education Class Guidelines. The student agrees to comply with the student policies as well as the class guidelines, and understands that failure to do so can result in termination from the College and the Driver Education Program.

The student agrees to pay the tuition at its current rate prior to beginning the class. The student understands and agrees that any absences must be made up in order to meet the required number of hours for satisfactory completion of the course. It is also understood and agreed that notification of absence from scheduled driving or observation time must be made at least 24 hours in advance to avoid paying extra fees for the makeup time. These fees are $30 per session. If training is not completed within 90 days of the enrollment date, tuition will be forfeited, and the student will be required to reregister, pay fees, and begin the course again. After the first day of class, the college will not refund any or part of the tuition if the College is ready, willing, and able to fulfill its part of the agreement.

The student understands that a driver license is not a guaranteed result of attending this class. The student must put forth the effort required to learn the information presented and demonstrate an ability to apply the material in practical application of the skills (driving).

Utah laws concerning licensing drivers state that any visual, mental, or physical problems that might result in a hazardous condition while operating a motor vehicle require a medical evaluation. Any of these conditions must be disclosed to the instructor prior to entering the behind-the-wheel phase of the training. A release from a qualified medical practitioner may be required before the student can complete the behind-the-wheel training.

The College will provide the required hours of training which are: 18 hours of classroom training; six hours of behind-the-wheel training; and six hours of observation time. All instructors will be certified by the state Driver License Division in Driver Education Instruction.

The time frame that is required to complete the course of instruction is based on scheduling driving and observation time at the convenience of the student and the availability of instructors and equipment. Therefore, no guarantee can be offered as to a minimum time required to complete the course. All training will be done in a timely manner as equipment and human resources will allow and should be completed in approximately four weeks from the starting date.

The Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) is a Federal law that protects the privacy of student education records. Ogden-Weber Applied Technology College may disclose directory information without consent. However permission is required for the release of educational records. Students have the right to inspect and review educational records and to request the college to correct records which they believe to be inaccurate or misleading.

I certify that the information on this application form is accurate to the best of my knowledge and I accept the conditions of this agreement.
